Descendants of Simon and Christina Vought

On the 28th day of April, 1708, a small band of Lutherans with the Rev. Joshua Kockerthal at their head, having left the lower Palatinate in Germany, journeyed to England and presented to Queen Anne a petition showing that they had lost all their property at the time of the ravages committed by the French, and that they were in absolute want, and requesting that they might be transferred to her Majesty's colonies in America. They presented to the Queen testimonials which they brought, duly authenticated by the magistrates of the several towns in which they resided, showing that they were of good character; and they made such a favorable impression that Queen Anne granted their request and they were accordingly sent to America in the year 1708.

On June 13, 1710, a second immigration of Palatines arrived at New York in the ship Lyon, which brought also General Robert Hunter, the new governor of New York and New Jersey. A large number of the immigrants died on the way over, and many were sick and disabled when they arrived here, owing to the poor food furnished them and the crowded condition of the ships. The authorities of the City of New York, fearing danger from infection if they were landed in the city, ordered that the immigrants should be landed on Governors Island, and directed that three doctors from the city should visit them, and that huts should be built for their accommodation.

Among these German immigrants were Simon Vought and Christina, his wife, from whom the members of the Vought family in America are descended. In the official list of the Palatines who came in this second immigration, appears the name "Simon Vogdt," and it was stated that he was then thirty years of age, and his wife twenty-six.

In 1710, a large tract of land on the Hudson River, near Newburgh, was bought by Governor Hunter from Robert Livingston and there in October of that year most of the Palatines were settled. A few of them remained behind at New York City, and afterwards settled in New Jersey and elsewhere.

Simon Vought and his wife were among those that remained behind in New York. It is probable that he stayed in New York City until the spring of 1711, when most of the remaining Palatines left the city.

Simon Vought settled in Western New Jersey in either Middlesex or Hunterdon County.

1. SIMON¹ VOGHT was b. in Germany in the year 1680; he m. there previous to 1710 his wife Christina, who was b. in 1684. When he and his wife arrived in this country in 1710 they were unaccompanied by any children; probably their only children were those whose baptisms are recorded below. Simon Vought was alive as late as 1749. In that year he joined with seventy-seven other members of the Lutheran Church in Western New Jersey in a call to the Rev. John Albert Weygand. The names signed to the call are mostly German, and the signatures are written as a rule in German, though some are written partly in German and partly in English, while a few are entirely in English. Among the latter is Simon Vought's who wrote his name "Simon Vogt." In the baptismal record of his children, made by the Rev. Justus Falkner, Lutheran minister at New York, his name always appears as "Vocht."

SECOND GENERATION

2. JOHN CHRISTOPHER² VOUGHT (Simon¹), was b. in New Jersey, Feb. 24, 1714. He m. Cornelia Putnam (the widow of Ralph Traphagen and daughter of David Putnam or Pootman.) John Christopher Vought resided in 1735 on the West Jersey Society's land in Hunterdon County. Among his neighbors at that time was Roeliff Traphagen, whose widow John Christopher Vought afterwards married. Cornelia Putnam was b. March 23, 1711, and bap. in the Dutch Church at Freehold, April 29, 1711. After the death of her first husband and before 1750, Cornelia m. John Christopher Vought. Although bap. "John Christopher" he was known as "Christopher," and the name John does not appear to have been generally used by him. It seems to have been a custom with these German families to give to several of their children the same first Christian name, the middle name only being different, and the child was then known by the middle name only. This is no doubt the explanation of the fact why John Christopher Vought was called sometimes "John Christopher" and sometimes "Christopher."

In 1759 Christopher Vought bought from the executor of James Alexander a farm of 285 acres in Lebanon Township, Hunterdon Co., N. J., for £712, 10s. Here he built a large stone house, barn and other buildings. His son bought a farm adjoining this in 1773.

At the breaking out of the Revolution, he with his son John took the side of the British, becoming staunch loyalists. He and his son John were at one time put in gaol and fined for their loyalist activities, and in December, 1776, they joined the British troops as the army under Sir William Howe marched to Trenton. Christopher lived on Staten Island during the war. After the surrender of Cornwallis he and his family were forced to go to Nova Scotia, where in 1783, they settled at a place called Parrsborough. He lived there with his son John until the year 1792, when they all returned to New York and settled at Duanesburgh, N. Y., on a part of a large tract of land containing 2,000 acres, which he bought of John Leake, May 19, 1770.

Family tradition says that he received a grant of a large tract of land in Canada, the present site of the City of Toronto, and his son a pension of 365 crowns a year from the British government.

Family tradition does not always agree with the facts as reference to the record in regard to this matter discloses.

A Commission of Enquiry into the Losses and Services of the American Loyalists, held under the Acts of Parliament of 23, 25, 26, 28 & 29, of George III., preserved amongst the Audit Office Records in the Public Record Office of England, shows that Christopher Vought and his son John made a claim for their losses and services during the American Revolution which was passed upon and partially allowed.

In a volume entitled American Loyalists, Audit Office Transcripts, Volume 28, Determinations in Nova Scotia, etc. On Claims for Various Provinces, at page 203, is to be found the following:

Halifax, 31st March, 1786.

Evidence on the claim of Christopher and John Vought, late of Hunterdon County in the Province of New Jersey.

CHRISTOPHER VOUGHT, the father, sworn:

Memorial read.

Says he is a native of America and at the commencement of the troubles he lived in Lebanon Township, Hunterdon County, on his own property.

He never took part with the Americans, but was imprisoned by them for opposing them, and three more of his family were likewise put in gaol and kept there for five days. They gave £200 security to appear. They were afterwards tried for and fined £100 for which they gave bond. Soon after they joined the British Troops, and he has resided on Staten Island all the War, and came here at the Evacuation. He now resides at Parsborough.

His son John joined the army with him and was soon after appointed a captain in Colonel Lawrence's Battalion, New Jersey Volunteers.

Property No. 1 285 Acres with a large stone house, barn and outhouses in Hunterdon County. Deed produced dated in 1759 from Mary Alexander, Executrix to the will of James Alexander to claimant, conveys 285 acres as above in consideration of £712.10 currency.

After he bought it he improved it and built the house, thinks the house was worth £500. The land and house he thinks were worth £2,000 currency. He had paid for it and there was no incumbrance on it.

No. 2 203 Acres adjoining the last, both No. 1 and 2 in possession of his son. The claimant was old and unable to cultivate them. Deed produced 1st August, 1775, from John Stevens and James Parker, conveys 203 acres Society Lands in consideration of £407, Proclamation money, which sum he paid.

His son was in possession of it some time before the War. He was offered £100 for his bargain.

He had made considerable improvements on it. Thinks it was worth £3 p. acre.

Property No. 3 2,000 Acres in Albany County, New York Province. Deed produced from John Leake to Claimant dated 19th May, 1770, in consideration of £600, New York currency. Conveys 2,000 acres as above and a receipt for £55.8.4, New York currency Quit Rent.

This wild uncultivated land he bought as a provision for his children and grandchildren. He settled two tenants on it, 20 years free. They had cleared some little. He values it at £2,000 New York Currency.

All the stock, furniture, &c. were lost when they joined the army.

JOHN VOUGHT, sworn:

He is son to Christopher Vought. He is the only son and the only child; he had a sister who died in child bed leaving one son George Young. The father George Young resides in the States.

His father and he joined the British Troops in 1776 at New Brunswick.

Before that he had signed an Association and attended the training of the Militia, and says he durst not declare his sentiments.

The Company he belonged to were turned out to be drafted to serve in the Militia, when to a man, they refused to turn out.

After this he was ill used, as they blamed him and Captain Lee for the Company not serving.

He resisted and raised men, and returned the ill usage. He was obliged to fly, but in consequence of the oppression his father met with, he delivered himself up when he was put in gaol for some days, was tried and fined £100 currency.

In December following he joined the British Army with 85 inhabitants of Hunterdon County. He soon after had a Company given to him in the New Jersey Brigade and was En Second in 1778. He now enjoys half pay and resides at Parsborough.

Produces Commission of Lieutenant from Sir William Howe, December, 1776, and of Captain from Sir Henry Clinton, July, 1778.

No. 1 There was a good house on it, the land was under good cultivation, 165 acres were in tillage, 25 acres of meadow, and the rest timber.

He thinks that the 285 acres with the houses and buildings would have sold for £7 currency p. acre.

No. 2 203 Acres adjoining was his property. He purchased in the fall of 1773, he did not get his title until the 1st August 1775. Says he had paid the whole price many months before he got his title.

He had cleared about ten acres, thinks it was worth £4 p. acre in 1776. There were several acres cleared besides the ten improved.

No. 3 He was on it with his father in 1770. He settled three tenants on it. They were to sit free 10 years and to pay £10 p. annum afterwards.

Produced a lease to that purpose. He values this at £2,000 currency. Thinks he could have sold it for £2,000.

By this certificate it appears that he sold No. 1 and No. 2 and made three sales of goods and chattels.

WILLIAM DRAKE, witness sworn:

Says in the course of last year he rode past the property late Christopher and John Vought and understood that it was sold under confiscation and in possession of the purchaser."

There were several lawsuits as to the land at Duanesburgh. This land was part of what was known as "Braines Patent." It was part of a larger tract of land bought of the Indians in the year 1733, by Walter Butler. It was patented by the Province of New York to Thomas Braine, of Queens County, N. Y., Feb. 24, 1752, and sold by his executor, Jacob Banks, to John Leake, Sept. 1, 1768, and by him sold May 19, 1770, to John Christopher Vought. After Christopher Vought bought this land he went in the year 1770 with his son John and settled two or three tenants upon it, who were to have the use of the land for ten years free and after that at the rent of £10 per annum. A dispute arose as to the boundary line between the Vought tract and land which had been granted to James Duane. An ejectment suit was brought by Christopher and John Vought against a man named Wood. This case was decided in May, 1805, in the Voughts' favor, and the Court held that the boundary of the Voughts' land on the West ran to the Van Rensselaer Manor line. The case is reported in 3 Caines Cases, page 118.

John Christopher Vought d. at Duaneburgh, N. Y., June 21, 1809, in his ninety-sixth year; and his wife Cornelia d. at the same place in Sept., 1801, aged ninety years. They are both buried in a private graveyard at Duaneburgh.

Children of John Christopher Vought and Cornelia Putnam:

- 3 i. John,² b. Aug. 6, 1750.
- 4 ii. Christiana, b. —, 1752, in Hunterdon Co.; m. Rev. John Young.

THIRD GENERATION

3. JOHN³ VOUGHT (John Christopher,² Simon¹), was b. Aug. 6, 1750, in Essex Co., N. J. He m. Nov. 22, 1772 (M. L. Sec'y of State, N. J., Nov. 21, 1772), Mary Grandin, b. March 10, 1755, of Hunterdon Co., N. J., dau. of Philip Grandin and Eleanor Foreman. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Frasier, an Episcopal clergyman.

John Vought was a farmer, lived at Clinton, Hunterdon Co., N. J., in the stone house built about 1760 by his father, and occupied in 1895 by James Painter. In the fall of 1773, he bought a farm of 203 acres adjoining his father's farm, for which he paid £407, and received a deed Aug. 1, 1775, and which he had partly cleared at the commencement of the Revolution. When the Revolution broke out he sided with the English, and raised a company of volunteers. He belonged to Capt. Lee's Company of Militia which refused to turn out when they were ordered to be drafted. It was supposed to be largely owing to his influence that the company refused to obey orders, and he became unpopular with the Americans. He was imprisoned and fined. He joined the British Army at New Brunswick in December, 1776, and received a commission as lieutenant from Sir William Howe, and in July, 1778, he received his commission from Sir Henry Clinton as captain in the Second Battalion of New Jersey Volunteers, commanded by Col. Lawrence. He served throughout the whole war. He was at one time during the war living on Staten Island, where his wife joined him in 1777, and where his son Christophor, b. May 2, 1783, was baptised in St. Andrews Episcopal Church on June 2, 1783, as appears by the Church records where the name is misspelled as follows: "Christopher Voke, son John Voke, Capt., and Mary his wife." He was a man of the greatest uprightness and honor. An interesting story about him is told in Clute's History of Staten Island, to the effect that he was billeted upon a farm in the vicinity of Richmond for some two or three months, and unlike many of the other officers he regularly paid for his board and lodging. The farmer came to him one day and said his house had been entered and he had been robbed; that he suspected some of the British soldiers from a button he had found. The captain took the button which indicated the company and regiment of the soldier. During the parade that day he noticed a soldier with a button missing from the front of his coat. He told the colonel and the soldier being sent for was after various questions accused of taking the money. Taken by surprise, the soldier admitted the theft and gave up the ten guineas, and Capt. Vought had the satisfaction of returning the money to the farmer within twenty-four hours after it was stolen.

After the war John Vought took his father, mother and his family to Parrsborough, Nova Scotia, where he remained until 1792. On May 8, 1797, they all embarked in a schooner for the United States, reaching New York May 31, and Duanesburgh June 13. A diary of the trip was kept by Christiana, Capt. Vought's eldest daughter, then nineteen years old. The diary, which is interesting enough to be given in full, is still preserved in the family of John Bogert of Albany, N. Y., the son of Christiana Vought. It has the following endorsement: "My Mother's Journal on her Voyage from Nova Scotia to Duanesburgh."

John Vought d. at Duanesburgh, Sept. 7, 1803, in his fifty-fourth year, leaving his wife and eight children surviving him. His will is dated Sept. 4, 1802, and a codicil thereto is dated Sept. 5, 1803. It was proved Nov. 10, 1803, and is to be found in Liber 3 of Wills, p. 76, Albany County Surrogate's Office. He leaves to his son Philip lot No. 3 of his farm, containing 250 acres; to his son Christopher, lot No. 1, 250 acres; to his son John, lot No. 4, and 10 acres out of lot No. 2; to his son Abraham, lot No. 2. He directs his executors to sell his lands in Nova Scotia.

Mary Grandin Vought, his wife, d. March 29, 1831, in her seventy-sixth year, and is buried at Duanesburgh, N. Y.

4. CHRISTIANA¹ VOUGHT (John Christopher,² Simon¹), was b. —, 1752; m. 1772, Rev. John Young, a Lutheran Clergyman of Hunterdon Co., N. J. In the testimony given by Capt. John Vought for compensation for losses in the Revolution he says his brother-in-law's name was George Young. This must have been the mistake of the clerk who transcribed the testimony. Christiana Young d. at Hagerstown, Md., two weeks after the birth of her son George in May, 1773. In an old Dutch Bible, printed at Amsterdam in 1736, by Peter and Jacob Keur, the entry of her death and of the birth of her son are given as follows:

"Christiana Young dep— (the page is torn) day of May in the year of our Lord One thousand seven hundred and seventy-three."

"George Young was born the twenty-third day of April in the year of our Lord One thousand seven hundred and seventy-three."

This bible belonged to Mrs. C. H. Porter who bequeathed it to her nephew William Grandin Vought, of Buffalo, N. Y., in whose possession it now is.

After the death of Christiana Young her husband m. again and had a family, one son of his afterwards becoming a Judge in Ohio. The Rev. John Young was in 1783 settled in Washington Co., Md., at a place called Conecoheague. In a letter from the Rev. H. M. Machlenberg to the Rev. Dr. Freylichhausen of the University of Halle, Germany, dated Dec. 6, 1782, it is stated that "Rev. Young in Maryland is a man who labors with industry and fidelity and faithfully discharges his duties both in life and doctrine."

Early in the Morning Capt. Bogart Went to his Father's (Who lives in the City) and Brought his Brother Garett on board to introduce him to our family. "No Matter for that we shall be hapy to wait on them". —Just as we were finishing breakfast Came in Mr. Gurst and with A Mr. Wright, Who after they were set down and welcom,d us to Albany said he was Come to invite Mamah and Family to dine with him. "I am much obliged to you sir, I am engaged to Mr. Bogarts." "Well Madam to Tea then". "No", said Garett Bogart, "where they dine they must Drink Tea"; accordingly we went with Capt.
